Friday, October 7. 1715.

ON Wednesday last, Mr. Dean of Canterbury, and Mr. Archdeacon Tenison, waited upon his Majesty with the following Address from the Archbishop Dean and Chapter of Canterbury; being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Townshend, and had the Honour of kissing his Majesty's Hand.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Archbishop Dean and Chapter of Canterbury.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

THough our most sincere Professions of Fidelity and Duty were presented to your Majesty soon after your Accession to the Throne, and have been since repeated by our Brethren in Convocation; yet we cannot suffer ourselves to be silent, upon an Occasion so important as this, when Seditious Tumults at Home, and the Apprehension of Attempts from Abroad, have threatned so much Danger and Disquiet to your Majesty's Person and Government.

We therefore most humbly beg Leave once more to assure your Majesty, that both Conscience and Interest will ever keep us firm to your Majesty's Service, and effectually determine us, by all Means becoming our Station and Character, to endeavour the Ease and Safety of your precious Life (which we pray God long to continue to us,) the Defence of your just and Legal Right to the Imperial Crown of these Realms, the securing our happy Establishment in Church and State, and the Protestant Succession as settled in your Royal Family, against any Pretender whatsoever.

These Principles we shall carefully inculcate into your People: These Blessings we daily beg of Almighty God. And we hope our Instructions and Prayers will have the good Effect of rendring us in some Degree Instrumental towards procuring for your Majesty Order and Quiet, and Allegiance from all your Subjects, and Conquest over all your Enemies, and the utter Disappointment of all the Invaders of your Majesty's Dominions.

Hamburgh, Oct. 8. 'By Letters Patents published at Staden, all the Deputies of Freshness Cities and Towns in the Dutchies of Bremen and Feberden, are ordered by his Danish Majesty to appear on the 14th of next Month to shew their Commissions; they are thereby also absolved from the Oath they had taken to the King of Denmark, and they will be then presented to the Deputies of his Britannick Majesty Elector of Brunswick-Hanover, who will Administer to them a new Oath of Fidelity to him. The full Surrender of the said Dutchies will be made the next Day, and thereupon the Sieur Michael David, Agent of the Chamber of Finances of the Elector of Brunswick, will pay the Sums that are agreed upon. They write from Stockholm, that they hope they shall be freed from the fear they had of the Muscovites, seeing they had not yet (Sept. 12.) attempted any thing against the Kingdom. 'Tis true, there are 26 Gallies at the Island Aland, but as they cannot long keep the Sea, 'tis conjectured they will shortly themselves, both having made a great Alarm in the Country, and a Diversion in favour of the Allies in Pomerania. The Prince of Hesse-Cassel gave out however this Armament in the Sound, and he has furnished out of his own Purse 1000 Crowns towards the Equipage of the Fleet; which, 'tis hoped, will be able to put to Sea, whereby the Fleet will be reinforced to 18 Sail. 'Tis said the Conduct of Count Leuwenhaupt, in retiring to Gottemburg instead of pursuing his Course, has not given Content, and that he will have Difficulty to justify himself.

'Tis written from Vienna, that the Ambassador of France has at last made his publick Entry, with very rich Liveries and magnificent Equipage. He would go into Mourning as soon as the Imperial Court does it, which was fixed for the 6th of this Month. Upon the pathetick Representations of the Venetian Ambassador of the sad Condition the Affairs of that State are reduced to, the Emperor has dispatched a second Express to Constantinople to M. Fleischman, with Orders to demand of the Porte a Categorical Answer whether they will restore or not to the Venetians the Places they have taken from them; and in case the Answer be not favourable and satisfactory, that Minister is to take his Leave immediately. And it being foreseen that the Turks will not do that, the War against them is in a manner resolved upon: To which purpose, although the Court have already given out Commissions for the Levy of 20000 Men in the Hereditary Countries, they negociate still more Troops from other Potentates. And 'tis believed they will give the Preference to the Danish Troops, in case the War in the North will permit that King to spare them. This Resolution of the Imperial Court makes it believed that the Republick of Venice does at last come into the Alliance Offensive and Defensive, comprising, as his Imperial Majesty has insisted upon, Italy in it. 'Tis said also that the Republick surrenders to the Emperor, Verona, Vicenza, and Bergamo; but as they pretend to have the Mantouese in Exchange, 'tis not yet known how that Negociation will end.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from France.

From the Gazette à la Main.

Paris, Oct. 12. They write from Lyons, that the Prince Electoral of Saxony is gone from thence to Avignon, where 'tis believed he will pass the Winter. The Marquis d'Arembergs, aged 70 Years, is released out of the Bastile, where he had been detained 11 Years by the Interest of the Jesuites, for having set free Father Quesnel, whom they had caused to be imprisoned in the Archbishop of Mechlin's Palace at Brussels. Letters from Bayonne mention, that the Queen Dowager of Spain, who has for some Years past dwelt in that City, is upon her Departure for Valladolid, having obtained Leave of the Court of Madrid to reside there.

An Expression of the Cardinal de Noailles, when he was at the Parliament, is much repeated; who, after speaking of the Affair of the Constitution, lift up his Hands and said, It was surprising to see the Parliament support the Church while the Bishops abandon it. Which Words gave great Satisfaction to all the Assembly, and he was complimented upon it.

On the 9th, six Waggons laden with Ingots of Silver arrived here from Brest, and were carried to the Mint. There were 14 in all, but the rest stopped at St. Malo, and will come by the Way of Roan, whence the Silver will be brought by Water to the Seine.

On the 10th, Audience for Foreign Affairs began to be given by the Marshal d'Huxelles, as used to be formerly by the Marquis de Torcy.

They pay now regularly the Annuities at the Town-House, and interest the Rentiers by 1000 Livres every Day, which gives great Joy to the Publick, their Payments having been long discontinued.

tinued. The Sums which the General Farmers are obliged to advance contribute to these Augmentations, for each of those Messieurs are taxed at 100000 Livres per Month, payable one fourth Part Weekly; in Consideration whereof they are to keep their Place.
